NEW HAMPSHIRE

OVERVIEW

The Interstate Compact on Educational Opportunity for Military Children was developed jointly by The Council of State Governments' National Center for Interstate Compacts and the U.S. Department of Defense, with input from policy experts, national associations, teachers, school administrators, military families, and federal, state, and local officials. The Compact eases interstate education transition challenges encountered by the children of active duty service members such as enrollment, eligibility, placement and graduation. On average, military students will attend six to nine different school systems from kindergarten to 12th grade.

Initial discussions about the Compact began in 2006, and drafting began early in 2007. First available for legislative consideration in 2008, the Compact was adopted by all 50 states and the District of Columbia in just 6 legislative sessions.

HISTORY

New Hampshire adopted the Compact in August 2014. The model language was adopted with modifications for statutory format. The dues are paid by the New Hampshire Department of Education

STATE COUNCIL

The State Council is comprised almost exactly as stated in the model language:

While each member state may determine the membership of its own State Council, its membership must include at least:

- The state superintendent of education
- Superintendent of a school district with a high concentration of military children
- Representative from a military installation
- One representative from the legislative branch of government
- One representative from the executive branch of government
- Other offices and stakeholder groups the State Council deems appropriate

A member state that does not have a school district deemed to contain a high concentration of military children may appoint a superintendent from another school district to represent local education agencies on the State Council.

The State Council of each member state shall appoint or designate a military family education liaison to assist military families and the state in facilitating the implementation of this compact.

The membership of the State Council currently has representation from the State Commissioners Office, Superintendents from Portsmouth and Rochester (both areas with concentration of military children), a representative from the state Guidance Counselors Association as well as a representative from the state Special Education Association. In addition, the Council includes representation from the Governor's office and the New Hampshire Athletic Association. Two vacancies left to fill are a legislative representative and a representative from the Pease Naval Base.
