MIC3 TEAM WELCOMES NEW COMMUNICATIONS ASSOCIATE

LEXINGTON, Ky.— The Military Interstate Children's Compact Commission (MIC3) welcomes Beth Workman to the team as its new communications associate. Workman comes to the commission with a broad background working in non-profit, for-profit and government agencies.

"I am excited to join the team to enhance the great work already being done at MIC3 and am ready to hit the ground running," said Workman.

Workman has a master of public administration from Kentucky State University and a bachelor's degree in communications and marketing from the University of Kentucky. Her past experience includes grants and program management at the Kentucky Coalition Against Domestic Violence as well as for the Commonwealth of Kentucky. Most recently she worked as the marketing and business development manager at CARMAN, a design and engineering firm. Workman is from Lexington, Kentucky, where she currently resides.

"Beth brings an excellent blend of communications, marketing, policy and operations experience to MIC3," said Cherise Imai, executive director of MIC3. "Coupled with her passion for serving children and the community, she is a great fit to our team."

Developed by The Council of State Governments, National Center for Interstate Compacts, the U.S. Department of Defense, national associations, federal and state officials, state departments of education, school administrators, and military families, MIC3 is a governmental entity operating under the Interstate Compact on Educational Opportunity for Military Children. With 50 member states and the District of Columbia, the compact ensures the uniform treatment of military children transferring interstate between state public school districts and the U.S. Department of Defense schools.
