MIC3 STATE COUNCIL

1. The minutes from the 29APR2021 State Council were approved.
2. Captain Moore announced that he will be transitioning to a new command and introduced his successor Commander of the Naval Submarine Base, Captain Curtain, who will officially take over on September 24th. Captain Moore expressed his appreciation for the MSLC and the State Council.
3. MIC3 is seeking student videos memorializing their experiences with successful education transitions under the Compact. Due to the pandemic there were very few submissions nationally, so please let parents know of this program. We would love to showcase the Compact in CT.
4. MIC3 has put together training videos, which are posted on the MIC3 website. These training videos can serve as a helpful introduction to the Compact for new staff members as well as parents.
5. MIC3 Annual Business Meeting (ABM) Update: The ABM, which was to be held in Little Rock, Arkansas on November 4th and 5th has been changed to a virtual meeting due to the continued pandemic. MIC3 has offered training modules in lieu of the break-out sessions held at the in-person meetings. Representative Cheeseman stated the two sessions: Compact 101 and Compact 201 were helpful and informative. Ms. Chapman will send everyone the links to the recordings of these two training sessions so everyone can view them.
6. PA 21-86: the new legislation allowing for military families to establish residency in any district in CT with PCS Orders to CT recently went into effect. Attorney Anastasio asked the group for feedback on how this legislation is impacting registration at the schools. Mr. Ross noted that the legislation was based on a proposal by DoD, which does not take into account the complexities of a state such as Connecticut with a large number of smaller school districts and with magnet schools. He noted that allowing for advanced enrollment into the magnet schools could impact the magnets if the service member's orders change at the last minute. The magnets receive funding based upon their October 1 enrollment, and any empty seats could lower the number of seats for the following year. Captain Moore also noted that for many families the ability to attend school in the district of choice can help the students with their transition to CT so they can attend school in the district of choice while they are looking for permanent housing. However, if the family cannot find housing in the district of choice, the student might have to change schools. The group noted that policies vary: Groton typically allows families to continue attending the original school, while other districts may only allow for it if they are near the end of the school year. Superintendent Austin recommended that the group draft a model policy for the school districts in the region to consider implementing to maintain continuity in how districts treat families in this situation. Ms. Erikson offered to draft a proposal for the MSLC to consider.

7. National Guard & Reserve (NGR) Inclusion: The request to include the National Guard and Reserves in the Compact is still under consideration of the MIC3. MIC3 asked the Commissioners to present the issue to their state councils and submit a position statement. Attorney Anastasio submitted a position statement that supports no action until more data is available to determine how many NGR families move to other states under non-Title 10 orders. She stated that an initial review of other states' position statements show that the New England states (Maine, New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts) seem to be on the same page with respect to this issue. She noted that if it is shown that there is a need for this change, Connecticut would support the options of having states enact legislation outside of the Compact or having the states enter into an MOU to implement this inclusion. However, Connecticut would not support attempts to change the Compact statute due to the expense and the danger of damaging the uniformity of the Compact.
